

Dr. Jarry Nicholas Tkacz is an Associate Professor of Radiology at Boston University Medical Center and Section Chief in Body Imaging. Dr. Tkacz completed his MD at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, MA and then completed his residency training in Diagnostic Radiology at Boston University Medical Center. Subsequently, he completed his Body Imaging fellowship training at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center in Boston, MA. He has been on staff at Boston University Medical Center for 14 years. Dr. Tkacz has authored several papers focused on GI/biliary tract imaging, has participated in several pharmaceutical sponsored clinical trials as principal and co-investigator and has lectured at regional, national and international conferences. His main interests include GI/biliary tract imaging, clinical operations and resident education initiatives.