

Khaled M. Elsayes

---

Dr. Khaled Elsayes is a Professor and director of mentoring and advancement, department of abdominal imaging at The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center and The University of Texas John P. and Katherine G. McGovern Medical School in Houston. Dr. Elsayes currently serves as the chief editor of Academy of Online Radiology Education, and he leads many national efforts such as serving as the chair of LI-RADS education and outreach committee as well as serving as the associate editor for Radiographics. Dr. Elsayes is a well-known world renowned radiologist with more than 200 peer review publications and 300 abstracts, 100 visiting professorships and over 100 international awards (including 2014, 2017 and 2018 RSNA honored educator award, Society of Abdominal Radiology 2017 Richard Marshak Award and 2021 Igor Laufer Visiting Professor Award).

Dr. Elsayes is an imminent speaker in national and international conferences, fellow of numerous international societies. He is also editorial member of several international journals and author of three radiology textbooks; “Introduction to Diagnostic Radiology” published by McGraw-Hill, “Cross Sectional Imaging of the Abdomen and Pelvis” published by Springer, “Pitfalls of the Abdomen and Pelvis” published by Elsevier.

Dr. Khaled Elsayes currently serves as the president-elect of University of Texas Kenneth Shine Academy for Health Science Education. He enjoys partnering with many wonderful, intelligent colleagues. He holds honor in helping others and brings value and contributions that focus in teaching and centering the newest and most up-to-date information to his mentees. Partners to present the newest technologies and improved methods and processes for diagnosis and creating an action plan to help treat patients and fight the disease.